PLAINFIELD

Popular Recital Under Auspices of
Bowling Green Club—Norwich Musical Association—Delightful Audience—Ernest Knabe Drops Dead—Addition of $17.75 to British War Relief Fund.

That Thomas A. Edison, the inventive wizard, had mastered the art of re-creating the human voice was beautifully demonstrated Wednesday night at a recital in Eden theatre given under the auspices of the Plainfield Bowling Green Club.

The recital as a whole was startlingly novel as well as instructive and the large audience left the theatre amazed at the great possibilities for entertainment which was demonstrated by the selections given upon the Edison diamond disc phonograph.

The entertainment opened with a three-reel picture entitled Voice of the Violin. This is one of the great photodramas in point of artistic merit of recent production. It abounds in dramatic situations and a vein of pathos runs through it. On the whole, it is intensely human and absorbing.

The story is that of a young man with an artistic temperament and a love for the violin. Through the misrepresentations of an older brother he has been driven from home. Later it develops that he was in the right, and then begins a search for him which ends in his being discovered at work in the Edison laboratories at Orange, N. J. The final picture on the screen shows the famous Edison laboratory where the great wizard perfected the Edison diamond disc phonograph and Mr. Edison is shown as he is leaving his laboratory in the only picture of the famous inventor ever taken for a moving picture screen.

Following the picture play, Miss Elizabeth Lane of Norwich was heard on the violin. Her selections were Canto Amoroso, by G. Sammartini, and the Minuet, by Beethoven. She was accompanied by Miss Olive Ellis, also of Norwich. Miss Lane in her recitations showed a mastery of the violin, and her playing was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience.

Then followed a number of vocal selections on the Edison diamond disc phonograph, all being records made by singers of note. During these recitations there was shown on the screen either the picture of the artist whose singing was being re-created or something suggestive of the place that was being sung.

One of the most pleasing numbers on the programme was a solo, Carita, by Miss Sadie Driscoll of Norwich, accompanied by Miss Margaret Driscoll of Jewett City. As a second selection Miss Driscoll sang One Meeting Hour. Miss Driscoll is well known in Plainfield and was given an enthusiastic reception. She sang in good voice and the audience showed its appreciation of her singing by generous applause.

Following is the programme rendered: Voice of the Violin, in three reels; Canto Amoroso, G. Sammartini; Minuet, Beethoven; Elizabeth Lane; I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen, voice re-creation of Walter Van Brunt; Charmant Oiseau, David, voice re-creation of Anna Case; For You Alone, Geel, duet re-creation of Elizabeth Spencer, Emory Randolph; Pro Peccatis, Rossini, voice re-creation of Arthur Middleton; Pleasure, pleasure, Marescent, voice re-creation of Julia Heinrich; Somewhere a Voice is Calling, Tate, voice re-creation of Vernon Archibald; Durch Die Walden, Weber, voice re-creation of Jacques Ullrich; Caro Nome, Verdi, voice re-creation of Alice Verlet; My Laddie, Thayer, voice re-creation of Anna Case; My Sunshine, Di Capua, voice re-creation of Charles Harrison; Ave Maria, Bach-Gounod, voice re-creation of Marie Farnold; Voice of the Violin, in three reels; A Carita, Winne; One Meeting Hour, Lee, Sadie Driscoll; Perfect Day, Jacobs-Bond, re-creation of a mixed quartet.

The entertainment as a whole was a great success and was undoubtedly one of the most attractive ever given in Plainfield. The evident appreciation of the phonographic selections by the audience was a great tribute to the inventive genius of Edison, who among many inventions places the Edison diamond disc phonograph in the front rank.

FELL DEAD.
Ernest Knabe, while giving medicine to a sick man, Expires Suddenly.

The sudden death of Ernest Knabe, 64, occurred Tuesday night at about 11:30 o'clock. Mr. Knabe was apparently in good health the night before and arose Tuesday morning to administer medicine to one of his patients who is ill. Suddenly Mr. Knabe fell to the floor dead, due to heart failure.

Mr. Knabe was born in Germany, but spent much of his life in Plainfield, residing on Pleasant street and was employed in the Lawton mills as a weaver.

He is survived by his wife and nine children, five boys, Fred of Adams, Mass., Ernest, Richard, Henry and Walter of Plainfield, and four girls, Mrs. Raymond Longfellow of Newfane, Vt., Mrs. Fred Schofield of Pawtucket, R. I. and Misses Emma and Edith Knabe of Plainfield.

Collections for War Relief Acknowledged.
Contributions to the Plainfield branch of the British-American war relief fund and fund for the Red Cross were received Tuesday evening. The collectors last week received $17.75, making a total of $291.22. Acknowledgment was made to Treasurer for the Red Cross of $50.00 to headquarters in New York. Accompanying the acknowledgment was a letter from the honorary secretary, handling of the fund for the Secretary W. B. Odham, Plainfield, Committee men of this fund explain that the clambake was not served for them on Sunday at Pawtucket, which was a general belief, but that a number of members were invited to attend the bake.

Teamster's Life Saved
WRITES LETTER THAT IS WORTH READING VERY CAREFULLY.

Peterson Bros.: I was afflicted with a very severe sore on my leg for years. I am a teamster. I tried all medicines and salves, but without success. I tried doctors, but they failed to cure me. I couldn't sleep for many nights from pain. Doctor said I could not live for more than two years. Finally Peterson's Ointment was recommended to me and by its use the sore was entirely healed. Thankfully yours, William Haase, West Park, Ohio, Mar. 23, 1916, care F. G. Keltz, Box 199.

NORWICH TOWN

Class Circle Closes Season With Picnic—Pupils' Outing to Hartford—New Yorkers to Occupy the Dennis Sullivan Place.

The last gathering of Class circle of The King's Daughters for the season is usually a picnic and this year was held Wednesday afternoon on the picturesque lawn at the Johnson Home. Fifteen members of the circle were in attendance and the house was most pleasantly spent. A lot of thanks given the matron and dies of the home was voiced by the leader, Miss Lucy Geer. In return a like was passed to the class, and a cake and coffee was served. This circle was formed in 1892 and this is only one of many pleasant picnics.

Social Time at Home.
A party of 25 Tuesday evening entered heartily into a good time at the Johnson Home planned by Ever Ready club. The evening was a success of emergencies and remedies were played. Humorous readings included May and the Auto, The Christening of the Baby and Grandma's Conversion. The vocal and instrumental music was a pleasing part of the entertainment, which ended with the serving of ice cream and water.

Class Visits Hartford.
Miss Isabel T. Service, principal of the West Town Street school, accompanied by the state capital and other points of interest in Hartford Wednesday. Members of the class are Arthur Avery, Grace Beetham, Ellen Burns, Caroline Jones, George Lumbert, James McNally, Alice Rogers and Henry Shahan.

New Yorkers to Move Here.
Mr. and Mrs. Langhaar of New York have bought the stock and tools of the Baby and Grandma's Conversion place on the Scotland road and will soon move there. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan will move to their cottage at the foot of the hill, in Whalan Park.

DESTINATIONS OF STATE TROOPS ON THE BORDER.
General Funston Has Sent Telegram Designating Points.

New York, June 28.—A telegram from Major General Funston fixing the destinations of troops from the states in the department of the east was transmitted through the war department to Major General Leonard Wood late today. The message read:

"Request the following militia organizations to be sent to the points indicated:

"All of Maryland to Eagle Pass, Tex.; all of Florida to Del Rio, Tex.; all of Maine and all of New Hampshire to Laredo, Tex. Information as to the destination of the Vermont National guard will be sent later."

General Wood announced, however, that he would not be able immediately to carry out General Funston's directions. The Florida troops are not yet ready to move, and will not be for some time, as more than half of them are raw recruits who are unfit for service.

The movement of New Hampshire troops has been postponed because of their unsatisfactory equipment, physical defects and the refusal of many of the men to take the oath mustering them into federal service, leaving the units below minimum strength, General Wood said.

General Wood expected to receive word tonight that a brigade of Pennsylvania had started for the border. Earlier in the day he was notified the troops were prepared to entrain. With the departure of the Pennsylvania brigade the number of troops on their way to the border will be increased to approximately 10,000. The remainder of the Pennsylvania division may be rushed out before Saturday. It is the plan now to send on at once units which require horses, supplying them with animals at the border.

General Wood declared he is cutting "red tape" wherever possible to expedite the movement of troops. He arranged today to have a telephonic cable carrying 15 trunk lines laid from New York to Governor's Island.

East Hampton.—At the meeting of the Litchfield Farm bureau, the executive committee voted to engage Maurice Cahill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cahill of this town and a member of this state's agricultural college, as one of the testers of the bureau's cow testing association work.

Boylston testified that on June 25, 1915, the company was refused a license to do business in that state by the Connecticut Banking commission. An appeal to the Connecticut Banking commission brought the same result and the company then took the case to the courts. A committee was appointed last December to take testimony as to the resources of the company and the committee was still engaged in its inquiry when the company went into the hands of a receiver.

Soon after these proceedings started in Connecticut the witness declared, stories regarding the insolvency of the company began to be circulated. Bondholders, he said, then brought pressure to bear and the company was forced to make sacrifices to meet its obligations.

Mr. Boylston said that on January 6, 1912, the directors voted to issue $200,000 in certificates to pay deferred salaries to six officers of the company. The hearing was adjourned until July 11.

New Haven.—The wedding of Miss Georgia Thos. Hutchinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stoddard Hutchinson and Mr. Holloway Kibben took place at Plymouth Congregational church, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Holloway of New York was the officiating minister.

INFECTED MILK BELIEVED TO HAVE CAUSED DEATH.
Third One in Milford to Be Attributed to That Cause.

Milford, Conn., June 28.—Mrs. W. P. Grippin of Bridgeport avenue and Springfield street, Devon, died at her home last night. The death certificate gives the cause of her death as "septic sore," believed to have been caused by infected milk.

This death makes the third one in this town to be attributed to infected milk. Mrs. F. Oscar Perry died Saturday and a grandchild died yesterday at Bridgeport hospital.

Authorities of Bridgeport and this town are conducting a rigid examination into the cause of the alleged infection. Dr. E. T. Conn, in charge of the state bacteriological board at Middletown, said today that "there is but one sure means of preventing infection from the milk samples which have been submitted to me for examination, and that means is pasteurization or absolutely stopping the sale until the cause of the trouble is located."
